

It is important to learn from your own experience...

... smarter still to learn from the experience of others

the informatology forum

learning conferences | company raids

Company Raids

If you could tour some of the UK's most interesting companies and learn the inner secrets of their Learning & Development departments, what would you call it?

We call it inspirational, insightful and impactful. We call it a Company Raid.

Visit another organisation for a day and learn about one of their successful Learning and Development projects. The discussion is candid. Raid Hosts will share what worked, what didn't work, and what they would do differently the next time. You will benefit from the experience of the host, as well as from the experiences of fellow Raiders from a wide variety of sectors. No training vendors are present.

Learning Conferences

Since our inception in 2003, informatology has been reinventing the rules of conferences. There is a special buzz at a Forum learning conference because it is a creative blend of inspiring presentations from expert speakers, informed case studies from experienced raid hosts and interactive conversation with your peers. You are not 'talked at' and are not 'sold to' (consultants/vendors are clearly identified).

Content and Methods

Themes: Business Needs; Change; Coaching; Competencies; e-Learning and Blended Learning; Generation Y; Global Perspectives; Leadership; Learning Communities; Succession; Talent Development

Styles: Seminar | Showcase | Workshop | Master Class | Job Fair

Two New Innovations

informatology Services offers to work with you before, during and after the conference to help you find the solutions you seek informatology Placements career fair; matching L&D professionals with potential employers

The conference is hosted by The Institute for Work Based Learning at Middlesex University in London on the 23rd, 24th and 25th of June 2009.

Featuring...

on business : change : people on recruitment : succession : talent

on collaboration : motivation : technology

on business : e-learning : global on careers : change : lms

on iip : impact : quality on global : lms

be part of something special

www.informatology.com | services@informatology.com | 020 8642 3980